AGEING

This Port wine aged in Port Wine barrels of approximately 600 liters, until the date of its bottling.

TASTING NOTES

Aroma | The aroma is highly complex and rich, with nuances of wood, dried tobacco leaves, coffee beans, dried fruits, cloves, exotic woods, and some iodine so characteristic of aged Port wines.

Taste | The tasting of this wine is a memorable experience and reminds us that it was well worth the wait, and that time has transformed this wine into something even more special. In the mouth it is a wine with a very fresh attack, with an enormous complexity and volume in the mouth, complemented with an acidity that balances the whole set making it very harmonious. The finish is very long and fresh.
